Introduction.

Encouraged by the splendid support given to their last year's effort, the Thirsk Chamber of Trade are again making an attempt to increase, and improve, local business, by organising a SECOND SHOPPING WEEK.

It is desired to show you that the Chamber of Trade is an active body of Business men which has the welfare of the whole of the inhabitants of Thirsk and District at heart. Prosperity in our town is essential if Thirsk is to maintain the happy position she has held in the past. To assure prosperity we must encourage local firms, as individuals, and collectively as clubs, associations, etc., by spending money in our own town in preference to elsewhere, whenever possible.

The Chamber of Trade realise that owing to the growth of Mail Ordering and increased transport facilities, competition is greater than at any previous period of the towns history, but it is confident that Members can give as good value and service in their respective callings as can be obtained anywhere else, and apart from other considerations advantages are to be gained by knowing the people with whom you do business, especially when their interests centre on ones own "Home Town."

To show you appreciate the efforts the Chamber of Trade are making, you are asked to at least give Thirsk Firms a chance before going or sending away for goods or service, and you are cordially invited to enter all the competitions described in this Hand-book.

The members of Thirsk Chamber of Trade thank you for your interest and support, and hope you will enjoy SHOPPING WEEK, and find some entertainment worthy of your attention.

Competitions.

The entries for last years competitions proved beyond doubt these were popular and therefore we are including most of them again in this Hand-book.

We are also repeating our policy of offering many small, rather than a few large prizes, so that there will be a greater chance for each individual to win something.

The Spotting Competition has been slightly altered to encourage still more diligent searching, and the "Error Competition" is a further inducement to practice observation.

The Limerick Competition has been simplified, and should provide considerable entertainment; as should the Advertisement Ballot, and Electrical Competition.

Cash Prizes will take the form of vouchers which may be exchanged for goods at any of the shops mentioned in this booklet or firms who are members of the Chamber of Trade.

RULES :—The judges decision to be considered final, and no correspondence will be entered into regarding any competition.

All entries to be sent to the Secretary, Thirsk Chamber of Trade, Finkle Street, Thirsk, and envelopes to be marked, as stated in detailed instructions concerning such competition, at the top left hand corner.

It is true.

We would be pleased to hear from you about those ideas you have for the improvement of OUR TOWN.

We would like to know if you enjoy Shopping Week, and consider it worth while

We would be delighted to have a contribution from you of verse or prose, for possible inclusion in the next publication.

We would not object to hearing your favourite grouse about the Chamber of Trade, or other subject of your disfavour.

Will you send us a letter, or even a postcard? To encourage such action, we are offering a prize of 2/6, for what in the estimation of the Committee is the most worthy communication received before the end of June, 1930.

After all, you know we are not a large community at Thirsk, and if we can manage to pool our ideas, and work together for our united welfare, anything may be possible.

Remember what John Ruskin said about England, and apply it to our corner, Thirsk.

"It is but a little island. Suppose, little as it is, you were to fill it with friends, men brave, wise and happy. Is it so impossible think you, after the world's hundreds of years of Christianity, and our thousand years of toil to fill this little gleaming crag with happy creatures, helpful to each other."

If only people who have grouses could and would express them at the right time, in the right quarters, instead of keeping them to themselves, or whispering them now and then, as excuses for apparent neglect, how much better for the individual and the whole community but how impossible it seems: and how contrary to human nature. Ever tried it? Its rather dangerous!

"Of all the excuses there are,
By which this old world is accursed,
This "Haven't got time" is by far
The poorest, the feeblest, the worst.
A delusion it is and a snare,
If the habit is yours, you should shake it;
For if you want to do what is offered to you,
You'll find time to do it or make it."

Cricket.

Thirsk Senior League which is composed of Thirsk, Sessay, Ripon, Boro'bridge, Northallerton, York A., Acomb, Rowntree's and Easingwold Clubs, was again won by the Thirsk Club during the 1929 Season.

The team, ably captained by Mr. H. Arkle, and backed up by a team of keen players, including two players transferred from the 2nd team, (Messrs. L. Gillling and F. L. Gill) piled up some huge totals on several occasions.

Cricket (CONTINUED).

The Thirsk & District Cricket League is formed by the village Clubs in the district, and the Victoria, Sowerby and Junction Clubs. after making a very inauspicious start the Sowerby Club recovered and after seemingly being in a hopeless position with respect to the achieving of the League Championship secured the honour despite its limited playing strength. The success was due to a large extent to the enthusiasm of the players.

Evening Cricket.—The Chas. Rob Memorial Trophy. The matches played in the above Competition created much excitement, and resulted in several close finishes. Disdaining the playing of orthodox cricket the players used the long handle effectively. This is the type of cricket which appeals to some lovers of the game.

The Semi Finals and Final which were played on the beautifully kept Catton Ground were attended by large crowds.

In the Final Tie the Catton Club defeated the Thirsk First Eleven before a crowd of over 500 spectators.

Knock Out Competition. This Competition aroused much enthusiasm in the town and district. The uncertainty of Cricket was borne out by the fact that Thirby, a club in the Felixkirk and District League, reached the Final Tie, in which they were handsomely defeated by the Thirsk Victoria Club.

Hockey.

This sport is fostered by the Thirsk Athletic Club, on whose ground the games are played. Despite the assistance of Captain Guy D. Fisher, an International, Mr. E. R. Jackson a player who played regularly in the Yorkshire Team during last season and Mr. C. Pearson who has taken part in County Trials, the number of wins credited to the club is less than it was during the preceeding season. Several young players have been tried and after a years experience it is hoped that better results will be achieved in the future.

Football.

Junior Football in Thirsk and District.

Junior Football in Thirsk and District is fostered by the Headmasters of Thirsk, Sowerby and Carlton Miniott Schools.

During the current season many inter-school matches have been played. The Thirsk British Schoolboys, who have played more than twenty matches against the schoolboys in the neighbourhood, have never tasted defeat during this season.

Boys who have left school are encouraged to continue as participants in the game. The Thirsk British School Old Boys, (Intermediate Section) which is managed by the Committee of the British School Old Boys' Club, have now won the Milbank Junior Cup Competition, which was competed for by boys under eighteen years of age. It will be the first occasion I believe, that the cup has had a resting place in Thirsk.

Football in Thirsk and District.

During the last two years, Football in Thirsk and the District has received a fillup. Never has there been such enthusiasm for football shewn in the town and the surrounding villages, nearly every one of which has its football team engaged in playing in the Thirsk and District, and other Leagues.

Several influential sportsmen in Thirsk, seeing the need for the reformation of the League, owing to so many Clubs springing up in the neighbourhood, took steps to establish it once more. Its position has now been stabilised, and with careful management, and a whole-hearted desire of the Clubs to maintain its prestige, will continue to flourish.

At the time of writing this article the indications are that the Thirsk British School Old Boys will hold the Championship of the League, and that the former Club, and Thirsk Second Eleven will succeed in winning at least one of the local Cups.

Things we would like to know.

If the authorities on Aerial Ropeways could not devote some time considering the question of an Aerial Mooring Mast in the district. (We learn that there is only one mooring mast in England, and it has been suggested that no Aerial Ropeway can compare with that near Thirsk).

Why we do not compete with neighbouring towns, and attract visitors to spend their holidays here.

How many rate payers know the date of the next Council Election, and what percentage of the whole of the ratepayers will vote at that election.

If those who fail to vote will abstain from criticizing the new council.

Whether the spirit of adventure in years goneby has made Thirsk what it is to-day. (hic)

Is there really any finer scenery in England than that within a ten miles radius of Thirsk.

The views of the majority of ratepayers on the subject of developing Thirsk as a Health and Holiday resort.

The effect of bringing—say, 500 visitors to Thirsk for a fortnight's holiday each year, assuming each spent the sum of £3 per week with local firms and ratepayers. (a) On individual traders. (b) On the average ratepayer. (c) On the visitors.

Why Thirsk has not developed industrially seeing it is on the main line. Gas and Electrical power are available, there is a good Water Supply, and rates are not above the average.

Whether our farmer friends realise that a still more prosperous Thirsk would make a still better market for their products.

If the majority of our fellow townsmen realise the splendid opportunities Thirsk offers for development, and the advantages we have as far as situation and scenery is concerned compared with neighbouring towns that appear to be more progressive.

The Thinker.

(Berton Braley.)

Back of the beating hammer,
By which the steel is wrought,
Back of the workshop's clamour
The seeker may find the thought;
The thought that was ever master
Of Iron and steam and steel,
That rises above disaster
And tramples it under heel.
The drudge may fret and tinker
Or labour with lusty blows,
But back of him stands The Thinker,
The clear eyed man who knows;
For into each plough and sabre,
Each piece and part and whole,
Must go the brains of labour,
Which gives the work a soul.
Back of the motors humming,
Back of the bells that sing,
Back of the hammers drumming,
Back of the cranes that swing,
There is the eye that scans them,
Watching through stress and strain,
There is the mind which plans them
Back of the brawn, the brain.
Might of the roaring boiler,
Force of the engines thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler,
Greatly in these we trust;
But back of them stands the schemer,
The Thinker who drives things through,
Back of the work the dreamer
Who's making the dream come true.

Old News.

Ingramgate was originally called Ingleberrygate.

Long Street was once known as Micklegate.

A Chapel dedicated to St. Giles at one time stood near Barbeck, and is mentioned in records dated 1345.

An Elm tree, under which elections for the Borough of Thirsk took place, stood on St. James' Green until burnt down on the 5th November, 1818.

The Chapel of St. James occupied a site on the Green in the year 1145.

Public Baths were fitted up by public subscriptions in Millgate, about the year 1857, and we are told charges were reasonable.

Thirsk was once famous throughout the world for Apricot Jam, and many Apricot trees grew on the walls of houses.

A spring of Medicinal waters similar to those at Scarborough and Cheltenham, which rises near Spa Farm, Northallerton Road, was at one time very popular for bathing and drinking for health purposes.

A Prison once stood in the grounds of the Marriage.

The Spinning of Cotton and manufacture of Tobacco were once introduced into Thirsk, but unfortunately never took proper root.

A man called Busby was hanged on a gibbet at Busby Stoop, in 1702.

The name Sowerby is probably derived from Securus Vicus, meaning Safe habitation,

The Township of Sowerby was part of the original parish of Thirsk.

Skeletons including that of a Warrior have been found in Pudding Pye Hill, together with ancient implements.

Thirsk is alluded to as Tresche in Domesday Book the name most likely meaning a town by the water British words. Tre a town Esch water

There is no record of a church, castle or priest being at Thirsk prior to 1086.

In 1754 the Codbeck overflowed its banks and swept away the bridge in Finkle Street.

Old News (CONTINUED.)

In 1768 an act of parliament was passed for making the beck navigable from the Swale to Thirsk. The difference in level was to be overcome by employing five locks. The scheme was commenced, and mooring rings can still be seen in the wall of what was to be a wharf near the Infants' School, Ingramgate.

The town was first lighted by gas in the year 1836.

The Yorkshire Agricultural Show was held at Thirsk in 1850, and there were 461 entries of stock.

During the 17th century the tradesmen of Thirsk coined tokens to supply the deficiency of copper coins.

The Tollbooth which stood in the Market Place was burnt down in 1838, and the Shambles were removed by the Lord of the Manor in 1857.

New News.

Newspaper cuttings from local Newspapers of the future :—

May 6th, 1999 People of Thirsk should be grateful to their predecessors, whose foresight prompted them to plant the beautiful Poplar Avenue along the York Stockton Road, once known as Long Street. Referring to the question of trees, few readers will remember the appearance of St. James' Green before the Beech Avenue was planted, and the Shrubberies made, which add so much to the present beauty of our town. At one time this splendid open space was bare of all vegetation other than scrubby patches of coarse grass here and there.

New News (CONTINUED.)

July 7th, 2000. The New Boating Lake at the bottom of the Flatts, is to be opened by the president of the C. of T. on Wednesday next, and a Gala with wonderful illuminations of the Institute Gardens is to take place on the following Saturday. This is a splendid addition to the amenities of the town, and the cost will no doubt soon be covered by the revenue derived from the hire of the boats and canoes. The additional stretch of water to Blakey Bridge will be open for boating when the widening operations are completed in about twelve months time. It is pleasant to note that Old Locks Bridge is to remain, and that the ugly black rails are to be replaced by rustic work, more in keeping with the rest of the landscape.

Sept. 5th, 1989. We hear that the Hydro at Hambleton had a record number of guests last month, this may be due to the added attraction of the New Golf Links above White Horse. However, it has been said that many people prefer the links at Sowerby Parks, and there is a rumour that the World's End Café is to be enlarged during the coming summer. It is understood that the directors of the Hambleton Hydro are considering having an Aerodrome made as the number of guests arriving by air at Thirsk Racecourse is becoming too great for such accommodation.

April 11th, 1973. At yesterday's meeting of the Council it was decided to place recepticals for waste paper at various places in the town, as an effort to keep the streets as clean as those in other towns of similar size. It is hoped that the public will realise that clean streets and a clean Market Place, are conducive to better health, and create a more favourable impression on Visitors. It is suggested the expenditure will not exceed £5 4s. 2½d.

Ourselves.

Whether you are in business or not, the Chamber of Trade is of service to you.

By taking an active interest in the affairs of the Town and district, encouraging members to enter into fair competition with each other, and business firms in other towns, and providing opportunities for members to meet on "Common Ground," and discuss matters of local and national importance apart from private or party interests, the Chamber can, and will, improve local conditions.

There are always those who expect, and sometimes succeed in gaining advantages or benefits they do not attempt to earn, and who offer criticism without knowledge of facts, and it is possible Thirsk has its share of these "Drones," but it is pleasant to report the Membership of the Chamber of Trade has again increased during the past twelve months. Still greater interest is being shown by those members who, quite rightly, consider it part of their duty as members to attend the meeting.

Professional men in practice, as well as business men, are eligible for membership, and full particulars together with application forms are obtainable from "The Secretary," Finkle Street, Thirsk.

If you care to make any suggestion, to answer any of the "Things we would like to know," or offer any constructive criticism, we invite you to send a letter to the above address whether you are a member of the Chamber or otherwise.

We wish to thank all those who have assisted in the production of this Handbook and especially J. A. Crabtree, Esq., to whom we are indebted for the blocks used for illustrating, Messrs. The St. Helens Cable & Rubber Co., Ltd, for the poem "The Thinker," and Messrs. Rawlplugs Ltd., for one of the prizes.

If you are not a member, Join Now—If you are a member, be an active member, and share your thoughts for the improvement of business and our town, with your fellow members. It takes many men to build a house, do not let us lack labour.

Rise of Banking in Thirsk.

(A few notes from an interesting Lecture given by Mr. Dyson, under the auspices of the Thirsk Chamber of Trade, on April 15th, 1930.)

It has been remarked that Thirsk and District residents are well catered for in the way of Banks, there being six well appointed Banking Offices in the town at the present time. It is therefore interesting to note the varied fortunes of Banking in the past, and observe the wonderful development of this important branch of our business life.

Fenton Scott, Nicholson & Smith.—Founded prior to 1793, with head office in Leeds. Notes issued from Thirsk and Leeds. Failed in 1812.

Mowbray, Hollingsworth & Co.—Established in Darlington prior to 1778, had an extensive note circulation in the North. Failed 1815. Property probably taken over by J. Backhouse & Co., who had commenced in Darlington, 1774. Notes were previously circulated in Thirsk district by Rd. Castler. The Thirsk Branch was taken over by York City & County Bank in 1873.

Britain & Thackwray—a Ripon firm established early in the 19th Century. Notes issued through Thirsk Agency conducted by Mr. Francis Hansell.

Dresser, Dresser & Tetley—This was a purely Thirsk Bank which issued notes. Joseph Dresser, the senior partner was the Topcliffe Miller. His son was the manager and his son-in law, Wm. Tetley of Asenby, was the other partner. In 1836 the Yorkshire District Banking Co. took over the business of Dresser & Co., and probably that of Britain & Co. as the new bank continued from the same house.

The Yorkshire Banking Co. in 1843 took over this firm and issued notes until 1901 when the fusion with the London City and Midland Bank took place.

Raper, Swan & Co. of York had an agent in Thirsk in 1821 called Francis Arnitt

Peirse Consett & Co., established 1793—later Hammond, Hirst, Close & Co., a Northallerton Firm, but one of the partners was Warcop Consett, Esp., of Brawith Hall, Thirsk. Business ceased in 1820, but all notes were paid in full.

"Aggie's Lad."

"Ah saay," said Aggie, hurriedly entering the little living room of No. 18, Aquaside, "has thoo heered about oor Bobbie?"

"No." replied Mrs. Elkins, pausing for a moment in her task of repairing a triangular tear in the lower garment of one of the juvenile members of her flock.

"Well, Ah'll tell ye," said Aggie, flopping into the nearest chair. It was not a robust chair, and Aggie was no light weight, but in spite of a protesting creak or two it stood the strain. "They've tekken oor Bobbie away."

"Who, the police?" asked Mrs. Elkins. "Well, he always was a harum-scarum boy."

"Harum nowt," snapped Aggie. "There nivver was a better lad nor him, an' if he was a bit spirited Ah'd rather hev a lad wi' a bit o' gumption nor a pasty-faced Lannon-bred lot what can't speak King's English, like some Ah know"—with a meaning scowl at the "foreign-bred" Mrs. Elkins.

Mrs. Elkins was not, however, to be drawn into an argument. Curiosity as to Bobbie's fate was too strong, although at any other time she would have been quick enough to defend the city of her birth and her numerous progeny.

"Never mind," she said conciliatingly, "Tell me what has happened to Bobbie."

"Well," said Aggie, settling herself in her chair until warned by an agonising creak from this long-suffering piece of furniture, "it was like this 'ere. Ah've hed an inkling for some tahme 'at oor Bobbie was mair nor a bit badly, but he wadn't own up to nowt, though Ah tried an' better tried to mak' 'im say what was up. But no, he wadn't say nowt, he just kept gettin' dowlier and dowlier. Well this moruin' he was too badly ti' gan ti sceedal, an' Ah fetched Doctor. Doctor said he had ti gan into t' Hospital at yance, an' he played steeam wi' me for not sendin' for 'im afoor. Ah were that flummoxed I couldn't think of owt ti say. He's i' t' Hospital now, poor lamb."

"Poor Bobbie" remarked Mrs. Elkins, "I hope he'll soon be out of Hospital and quite well again."

"Why," said Aggie "t' Doctor said he thowt he wad be as well as ivver in a few weeks."

"Well, that's something," replied Mrs. Elkins, but he will get tired of lying in bed.

"Seea he will, but Ah shall knaw where he is, an' that's mair 'n Ah ivver knew afoor."

"I'm afraid it will be very expensive for you" said Mrs. Elkins.

"Ah well," said Aggie, rising from her chair and preparing to depart, "Mebbe they hev'n't a scheme like oors i' Lunnon. Ah've had a bit o' sense an' joined t' scheme when it started. Ah shan't hev owt ti pay, an' that's a comfort anyway',

Error Competition.

Prize 15/-

It has been arranged that several shopkeepers will make intentional errors in their window dressing during Shopping Week.

A box may be placed upside-down, an article may be wrongly labelled, a word may be missed out on a show card, a spelling mistake may occur on a label, or something similar.

The above prize will be awarded to the person sending in the list describing the greatest number of errors discovered.

Send your list on a sheet or sheets of paper tabulated as shown below. Write in first column the number of the errors, in the second column the number of the window (as shown on Shopping Week Poster exhibited therein), then in the next column describe the error in as few words as possible thus:—Letter "R" missing on show card.

It is possible that more errors will be added from day to day so it is advisable to look round the shop windows frequently.

All entries must be accompanied by the form below, and be sent as directed on page 4, in envelopes bearing the word "Errors" in the top left-hand corner.

Traders Competition.

This Competition has nothing to do with the Window Display Ballot Competition, described on page 23, but is a Window Dressing Competition for Traders only, to encourage still better displays.

Prizes to the total value of £5, together with Certificates, are being offered for the Best Window Displays in each of the following Classes, and a Special Prize of £1 is offered for the best dressed window in the whole town.

Judging will take place on Saturday afternoon, May 31st, and is to be undertaken by Messrs. A. Mawson and K. Stables, Professional Window Dressers, of Leeds.

- Class A. Grocers, Fruiterers, Butchers, Fish and Poultry Dealers.
- „ B. Milliners, Drapers and Outfitters.
- „ C. Furnishers, Ironmongers, Garages, Hardware and China Dealers, and Electricians.
- „ D. Chemists, Confectioners and Booksellers.
- „ E. Boot Shops, Tobacconists and Saddlers.

As will be understood the problem of classifying the groups for this competition, and the judging of the displays is a most difficult task. The Committee have done their best to make the competition fair, and it is hoped the traders and their friends will regard the whole competition in a broad light, and consider the object of the contest rather than any particular element concerning the grouping or awards.

Parish Councils and Their Work.

To the formation of these Councils, we have to go back to the Local Government Act, 1894.

The Council consists of from five to fifteen persons, chosen from the parochial electors, or from persons resident during the whole of the preceding twelve months, in the parish or within three miles of it. The Act conferred on them certain duties previously exercised by the Churchwardens, one of which was the appointment of Overseers.

It is impossible, in a short article, to go into the "Mays" and "Musts" of the powers of these Councils. On the whole, their powers are not extensive, but when properly exercised may be of useful local benefit, e.g., repair of certain footpaths and stiles, the adequate lighting of the locality, guarding Village Greens from the depositing of rubbish, or straying cattle, by laying information to the District or County Council, and by the use of certain of what are called the Adoptive Acts, such as the Burial Acts, Baths and Wash-house Acts, and the Lighting and Watching Acts of 1833. The first and last of these have been adopted by the Thirsk Council, and the Lighting by the Sowerby Council.

It is the method of election, that may tend at times to degenerate into a farce, especially where there is apathy on the part of the electors. For the sake of the uninitiated, let me explain the method. Anyone, possessed of the afore mentioned qualifications may be nominated with or without their consent. A Parish Meeting is called, at which a certain amount of time is given to allow any nominee to withdraw his or her nomination. If the number remaining is then the number of Councilors required—five to fifteen—they are declared elected. If however, there is more than the number, the election takes place by Show of Hands. Those getting most votes are then declared elected, unless anyone present ask for a Poll, in which case, time and place have to be fixed for an Election in the ordinary way, by Ballot. This means expense for the Parish, and it was probably owing to this—although from other happenings one is inclined to doubt it—that the former method was suggested.

The Farcical part may easily be induced by the Show of Hands. No one may hold up their hand more times than the number to be elected. The counting devolves upon the Chairman of the Meeting, but in a large one how can he possibly check the number of times each person puts up a hand? And although there are heavy pains and penalties for a breach of this, even the voters themselves may make a mistake if there are a dozen or more to be elected. However, all things considered, it seems to have worked satisfactorily, and it is hoped that the Ratepayers will take a more lively interest in these minor elections.

The first Meeting for the election of Thirsk Council took place on the 4th December, 1894, and about 300 electors attended, a striking contrast to more recent years. There were 28 nominations and 10 were declared elected on show of hands, but Poll being demanded, the election took place on the 17th December. The Poll was headed by Mr. William Bailey with 241 votes. At the first Meeting of the Council, Mr. Richard Pearson was elected Chairman, and Mr. Reginald Bell Vice-Chairman.

A Suggestion.

During recent years at least one old custom has lapsed completely in the village of Sandhutton. With the development of Motor traffic and the close association of town and country, it is to be expected that other customs and traditions will also become things of the past, at no distant date.

It is suggested, that some resident in every parish should compile a written record of old customs, traditions and beliefs before they are forgotten, and that such records should be carefully preserved.

Anyone interested in this matter is invited to get into communication with Mr Norman Cradock, Sandhutton, Thirsk.

Our Thriller.

“ A Damsel in distress.”

The girl was a little quieter now, her sobs had almost ceased. Mr. Jones was rather glad. It upsets a fellow to hear a girl sobbing like that, she seemed so young too, yet what could he do. He was helpless even to comfort her.

He gazed at her rather lovingly, how pretty she looked, what soft fluffy hair, how graceful and slim in that pale filmy thing she wore, in fact how altogether adorable.

Mr. Jones pulled himself up with a jerk. Come, these thoughts were foolish, the girl was nothing to him, he had never seen her until to-night, why did he let her work upon his feelings in this manner?

The story she had just told was indeed a harrowing one. What would happen to her eventually, Mr. Jones had not the slightest idea. However, it was not his affair, he would get out of it as soon as possible, and perhaps, never see her again.

He shuffled his feet, and moved uneasily in his chair, leaned forward and knocked the ashes from his pipe. The girl looked up, the tears were still on her cheeks, and the light from the fire made them sparkle as Mr. Jones had never seen tears sparkle before. He sighed.

Appealingly she looked at him, and twisting a small wet handkerchief agitatedly in her fingers, she said in a low husky voice, “ If only someone could help me, but—despairingly—it is almost too late ” He will be here at any moment now. Tell me what can I do? The sobs broke out afresh.

Our Thriller (CONTINUED).

Mr. Jones didn't know what the deuce she could do, things were certainly in a frightful mess. In his innermost heart though he thought she deserved most of it, if what she had said to-night was true.

She moved away from the fire, and came towards Mr. Jones, but even as she did so, the door was slowly opened. The girl stopped suddenly as she caught the sound, and a look of terror crossed her face. Swiftly a man entered, and with a harsh laugh, crossed the room, and caught her roughly by the arm.

Mr. Jones involuntary stiffened, but still did not move from his chair.

"So my dear" said the man, "Here I am again," I see I was expected. He gave a low snarling laugh, and suddenly brandished a riding whip, as though to strike the girl. The girl screamed and struggled helplessly.

Mr. Jones stood up, and amid ear piercing shrieks and sickening sounds of blows, he quietly passed through a small door at the side which had been hidden by a heavy curtain.

Out in the street once more, Mr. Jones breathed more freely. It was raining slightly, and he pulled up his coat collar and hurried along. Although he passed a policeman at the corner of the street, he did not stop and ask for assistance.

Mrs. Jones bustled into the hall as her husband was hanging up his overcoat. "Well dear, and what do you think of the Talkies?"

Another sown seed.

Another battle ended,
Another sorrow healed,
Another storm abated,
Another friendship sealed.

Another cloudy time to pass,
Another stream to stay,
Another and Another,
Thus Life goes on its way.

E. T., 1915.

“There is a perennial nobleness, and even sacredness in Work. Were he never so benighted, forgetful of his high calling, there is always hope in a man that actually and earnestly works: In idleness alone is there perpetual despair. Work, never so Mammonish, mean, is in communication with Nature. The real desire to get work done, will itself lead one more and more to truth, to Nature's appointments and regulations, which are truth.”

TRUTH IN RADIO

A radio set is as good as its valves—that is why Mullard P.M. valves are used wherever good music and true rendering of good music are appreciated.

Plug a set of Mullard P.M. valves into your receiver and a new sparkle, a fresh vitality flows into your radio reception.

Only Mullard valves can do it because only Mullard valves have the wonderful P.M. filament—the filament that has stood the test of time.
